East Meets West: Integrating the Foundations of Traditional Chinese Medicine with Modern Occidental Natural Medicine

2500 years ago ancient Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) embodied elements of the medical truth of the time. Modern Occidental Natural Medicine (ONM) offers elements of medical truth for today. The foundations of these two truths are the same. Our responsibility is to unite these truths, across the centuries and cultural differences, honoring the past, while meeting the responsibilities of the future.

Master teacher and visionary, Dr. Gerard Guéniot, MD has practiced and lectured on Chinese Energy and Natural Medicine since 1979. He brings to North America a true understanding of both ancient and modern wisdom.

The goal of this practical seminar is to integrate the understanding of TCM's ancient principles with the humanistic approach of modern Natural Medicine, while enabling practitioners to enhance the success of their clinical practice and patient care.

In this seminar Dr. Guéniot will review the principles and ancient theories of TCM after which the major systems used in ONM will be explained by means of the Chinese energies. Discussion of pathologies by organ systems will be presented, then summarized in a simple therapeutic approach with references to Acupuncture, Drainage, Gemmotherapy and Nutritional Supplements.

Dr. Gerard Guéniot will provide a synthesis of the well-known and accepted philosophies in each culture, by integrating them in a humanistic complementary approach and by providing simple, clear and easy to understand natural therapeutic protocols which enable the practitioner to formulate and apply these concepts into an effective and successful treatment plan.
