CONTINUING EDUCATION TO ENHANCE YOUR PRACTICE

NEW Humanity's Greatest Threat: Advanced Modalities and Supportive Care for Your Cancer Patient – Workshop 2 Day Session

Presented by Dickson Thom DDS ND

Vancouver, BC April 24-25, 2010

While we may rejoice at the advances in modern technology and the resources available, cancer continues to be humanity's major threat. Although research is being conducted in every part of the world, no ultimate solution has been found, or is even in sight. As such, the role of the alternative practitioner has taken on heightened importance.

This seminar will look at the present model and how alternative therapies can be added to the patient's current therapies to enhance outcomes. The utilization of energetic modalities such as single Homeopathic Remedies, Gemmotherapy, Tissue Salts, Organotherapy, Flower Essences and unda® Numbered Compounds have demonstrated positive clinical effectiveness in treatment outcomes. Using case examples, this workshop will guide you through the utilization of these modalities.

If you treat chronically ill patients in your practice, especially cancer patients, this workshop will facilitate an approach to supporting them from a humanistic and natural approach.

Dickson Thom DDS ND

AANP 2009 Vis Award Recipient. Granted to Dr. Dickson Thom for his commitment to the Healing Power of Nature as a guiding force in his work, life, and community service. He is an invaluable teacher and mentor, helping to cultivate a generation of promising new naturopathic physicians.

Dickson Thom DDS ND is a licensed naturopathic physician and full time professor at the National College of Natural Medicine (NCNM) in Portland, Oregon, where he teaches clinical and physical diagnosis, gastroenterology, neurology, practical endocrinology, x-ray practicum and business entrepreneurship. He is also a clinic instructor at the NCNM CLINIC, the teaching clinic for NCNM. Dr. Thom regularly lectures to fellow physicians in Canada and the U.S. on the therapeutic benefits of homeopathic drainage and published one of the first books in the English language on the topic of unda® Numbers: An Energetic Journey to Homeostasis and Wellness®. Dr. Thom has been in private practice in the Portland Metro area since 1989. His specialized practice focuses on the management of chronic disease, including auto-immune disease, neurological conditions, endocrine disorders and cancer. His therapies focus on optimal lifestyle choices for each specific condition and include dietary, sleep, and exercise recommendations; supplementation and herbal medicine; a European form of homeopathy called biotherapeutic drainage; and hydrotherapy. Health is a reflection of physical, emotional, spiritual, and energetic balance. Dr. Thom is committed to helping people overcome obstacles to achieving this essential equilibrium.
